LEAVENWORTH, Dec. 10.—John R. Bell of Jarbalo postoffice, the county of Leavenworth, announces himself as a candidate for president on the Legal Civil Government platform. He offers to take the office without compensation other than expenses incurred while serving. In his declaration of principles and definition of Legal Civil Government are the following sections:

"We declare these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal with certain inalienable rights, and amongst them are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

"Every person under this form of government shall have the privilege of enjoying the proceeds and profits of their own labor without any tax being levied thereon by an oppressor."

"Every person under this form of government shall have the privilege of manufacturing and selling anything and everything that their ingenuity can create, so long as they do not defraud the purchaser."

In an interview in the Times, Mr. Bell said he was God's candidate for the presidency and that sooner or later the devil would be overthrown and right prevail. Mr. Bell is well known in the county of Leavenworth. He is 68 years of age, has never held an office, is a farmer by occupation and not a politician. He asks the press of the county to support him in his fight against the wrong.

The present charge against Vanderberg is similar to the one on which he was tried and convicted in September. He was taken to Topeka today.

SHOES FOR THE POOR.

And Baby Clothes to be Seen at the Associated Charities.

The Associated Charities seems to be prospering. It is located in a room that used to be a lumber office and in which there is a vault which Secretary Russ now uses to keep vegetables and fruit in. In an inner room are the clothes. One side of the room is lined with a long row of shoes, red shoes, tan shoes and low shoes. Shoes that have become too ill of repair are their wearers' owners and look even now as though they would be very little protection from even rain and cold, to say nothing of snow. But they are for poor folks, and poor folks must not be too proud.

Little white garments are on a shelf or hung against the wall, that look as though they had been made by happy mother hands for babies that had since outgrown them. White and clean are they, as though they had been freshly washed for the well-housed little owner, who would not need them again, garments that perhaps were made for babies that have since left their happy homes and the mother's care for another world, and the little mother folded them together with a tear or two, thinking as she did so, that some other little mother would enjoy dressing her little one in them as she herself had.

"We are not going to be troubled this winter as we were last," said Secretary Russ, "with duplicate aid. I don't know of another society in the city now that is not a part of ours or working with us. It is well known that last year several of the city's poor made a practice of going from one place to another and getting aid and living mightily well because of their questionable thrift. If people will turn their donations in here they may be sure they will be rightly placed."

A NARROW ESCAPE!

How it Happened.

The following remarkable event in a lady's life will interest the reader. For a long time I had a terrible pain at my heart, which bothered me almost incessantly. I had no appetite and could not sleep. I would be compelled to sit up in bed and beat gas from my stomach until I thought every minute would be my last. There was a feeling of oppression about my heart and I was afraid to draw a full breath. I called a sleep room with out sitting down and resting; but, thank God, by the help of New Heart Cure all that is past and I feel like another woman. Before using the New Heart Cure I had taken different so-called remedies and been treated by doctors without any benefit. I was both discouraged and disgusted. My husband bought me a bottle of New Heart Cure and, as I have a heart disease, I never regretted it, as I now have a splendid appetite and sleep well. I weighed 125 pounds when I began taking the remedy, and now I weigh 105. Its effect in my case has been truly marvelous. It far surpasses any other medicine I have ever taken or any I expect I ever will receive from physicians. Mrs. Harry Starr, Portland, Ore., October 12, 1902.

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure is sold on a positive guarantee by all druggists, or by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, 31 per bottle, six bottles $5, express prepaid. This great discovery by an eminent specialist in heart disease, contains neither opiates nor dangerous drugs.

THROWN OUT OF COURT.

Judge Hazen Thinks Emiline Crumb Failed to Prove a Case.

Judge Hazen threw the celebrated Crumb insurance case out of court late Saturday on a demurrer to the evidence. After the plaintiff's evidence was all in Eugene Quinton for the insurance company asked that the case be dismissed on the ground that the evidence had failed to prove a case, or come close to doing so. To the surprise of the other side Judge Hazen sustained the demurrer, holding not only that she was not entitled to the insurance, but that her right to the property was a matter of considerable doubt.

The case of Emiline Crumb against the New Hampshire Fire Insurance company is a bitterly contested one from Burlington, Osage county. It was the third trial of the case.

Mrs. Crumb came into the possession of some valuable property, it is claimed, questionably, and, after guarding the place from attacks from constables and officers, the property including an elevator was burned, and Mrs. Crumb is suing for the $2,500 insurance. At the first trial the jury disagreed. The second time she got judgment for about $2,300, but Judge Hazen set the verdict aside. Judge Donihitt represented the plaintiff and Eugene Quinton watched the interests of the insurance people.

The sale and entertainment at Bethany college for the benefit of mission takes place tonight from 7 o'clock to 10. Come and see the tableau.

HIS HAND FULL OF GLASS.

Hackman Joe McElroy Meets With a Painful Accident Saturday Night.

Hackdriver Joe McElroy will carry his strong right hand in a sling for several weeks. He ran his hand through a window Saturday night, and some of the glass is in his hand yet. The glass entered his hand near the wrist and extended under the palm almost to the fingers where a number of pieces protruded. Dr. Mulvane, who dressed the wound, says there is some danger of blood poisoning.

The accident happened at the lively stable near Sixth street and Western avenue, where McElroy keeps his hack. He and the proprietor were engaged in a friendly wrestling match in a room that was too small for such festivities.
